

City Guides x Emilie Meinadier Consulting

Paris Fashion Week Bulletin

#3 Fall 2017

Eat & Coffee

Le Camondo

AFTERNOON TEA / BAR / COCKTAILS / MODERN EURO / TERRACE

Located inside the museum Nissim de Camondo, this new bar and restaurant provides a modish setting for a meal or aperitif before or after exploring the museum's incredible collection of French decorative arts, or the Parc Monceau, opposite. The dining room opens on to a courtyard terrace like a secret garden.

61 bis rue de Monceau, 8th / 01 45 63 40 40 / Noon-midnight (4pm Sun). Closed Mon / www.lecamondo.fr

Les Grands Verres

BAR / COCKTAILS / COFFEE / MEDITERRANEAN / TERRACE / VIEW

The Palais de Tokyo's new cocktail bar and restaurant is a pioneer in sustainability, with its own edible flower garden, beehive and on-site composter. American chef Preston Miller explored his Lebanese origins for the menu, and the cocktails and wine list are world class. ReadyMade, a café and apéritif bar, is located at the entrance and is open all day for a more casual bite or quick coffee.

13 avenue du Président Wilson, 16th / 01 85 53 03 61 / Noon-3pm, 7pm-2am daily / www.facebook.com/lesgrandsverres/

Le Grand Bain

MODERN EURO / SMALL PLATES

Brit chef Edward Delling Williams and his front-of-house buddy Edouard Lax from Au Passage have taken everything they liked and mastered from that longstanding bistro and bought it to their own new place out in Belleville: a daily changing chalkboard menu lists about 20 small plates – maybe crab and salsify (7€), pork shoulder (45€) or butternut broth and tortellini (6€); the wines are natural; and the crowd happy and handsome.

14 rue Dénoyez, 20th / 09 83 02 72 02 / 7-11.30pm daily / www.legrandbainparis.com/

Hotels

Hôtel de Crillon

After the Ritz last summer, another of the world's legendary palace hotels has just entered a new chapter in its history. The comprehensive restoration adds a contemporary polish to the hotel while remaining faithful to its character. A gorgeous ground-floor suite of dining and drinking spaces includes the relooked Ambassadeurs bar, with unrivalled views over the Place de la Concorde and a really quite epic champagne list.

10 Place de la Concorde, 8th | www.facebook.com/hoteldecrillon/

The Hoxton Paris

Ultra-cool Shoreditch-born chain The Hoxton now has a hit Paris sibling. Head upstairs to find Jacques, the exotic lounge bar: a homage to Jacques Majorelle and his namesake Marrakech garden with jaunty floral wallpaper, tasseled lamps, palms and a reclaimed timber parquet floor. The drinks list, devised by local cocktail gurus Quixotic, also takes exotic cues, with highlights like an on-point mezcal negroni.

30-32 rue du Sentier, 2nd | www.thehoxton.com/paris

Hôtel National des Arts & Metiers

This stylish new hotel between the Marais and Montorgueil from the Hotel Bachaumont crew is home to a rangy ground-floor trattoria Ristorante National and more casual cicchetti bar. Mixologist Oscar Quagliarini presides over L'Herbarium bar where each concoction on the perfume-inspired cocktail menu has its own "olfactory identity". The fun continues at the tiny rooftop bar: best book ahead to get a seat.

243 rue Saint Martin, 3rd | www.hotelnationalparis.com

Shopping

Balenciaga Avenue Montaigne

Last fashion week Demna Gvasalia cemented his reign at Balenciaga, with the brand's rue Saint Honoré boutique brought in line with the house's new aesthetic. A 3rd Parisian Balenciaga outpost – on the old site of luxe multibrand boutique Montaigne Market – has just opened at 57 Avenue Montaigne, modelling the same super-sharp new look: a strikingly proportioned, industrial-chic space with concrete floors, aluminium tables and changing rooms bearing silicon drapes. Nailing the factory vibe, clothes hang off chrome-plated conveyor belts.

57 avenue Montaigne, 75008 | www.balenciaga.com

Démodé

Retail genius Marie-France Cohen, behind two game-changing Paris icons – kids' outfitter Bonpoint, and concept store Merci – has launched her third act. "Find a gap, don't create a need, we have too much of everything," runs the slogan for Démodé ("outdated"), a homewares-store-cum-showroom spanning handblown glass, velvet cushions and painted plates. The common thread: Cohen's magpie eye, but also a love of poetic, one-off objects, rather than fickle fashions. Find Cohen's objects of desire on the e-shop or in the Saint-Germain pop-up.

70 rue de Grenelle, 75007 | www.demode.fr

Christian Dior Paris

Dior has launched a hush-hush hub for its high-end fragrance line. Born as a pop-up in spring 2016, and then quietly refurb'ed and rebranded this summer, the boutique is the only stand-alone address to exclusively stock Dior's haute perfume range La Collection Privée. Initially developed under Hedi Slimane in 2004, today the line is developed in-house by Dior's own perfumer François Demachy. All scents nod to the label's heritage, from Dior's flower-filled childhood home in Granville to his muse Mitzah Bricard.

326 rue Saint Honoré, 75001 | www.dior.com

colette 1997-2017

On 12 July Sarah Andelman announced via Instagram that the temple of Parisian cool was set to shut on 20 December. Sarah and her mother Colette Roussaux launched the concept store in 1997; their statement explained that the original Colette had "reached the time when she would like to take her time, and Colette cannot exist without Colette". So now is just about your last chance to scope the boutique's zeitgeist-defining array of fashion, accessories, cosmetics and covetable limited editions, and sniff that signature fig scent. They're seeing out the year with takeovers by their favourite brands: this month it's Thom Browne, who moved his womenswear show from NYC to Paris this season, then Chanel (Nov) and Saint Laurent (Dec) (who are tipped to take over the space in 2018). www.colette.fr

What's On

Irving Penn

GRAND PALAIS

Celebrated for more than six decades of influential work at Vogue magazine, Penn was first and foremost a fashion photographer. To mark the centennial of his birth, this retrospective is the most comprehensive exhibition of the American photographer's work to date. Over the course of his long career, Irving Penn mastered a pared-down aesthetic of studio photography that is distinguished for its meticulous attention to composition, nuance, detail, and printmaking.

Until 29 Jan | 3 avenue du Général Eisenhower, 75008 | www.grandpalais.fr

Christian Dior

MUSÉE DES ARTS DÉCORATIFS

Celebrating the 70th anniversary of the house of Dior, this lavish exhibition invites visitors on a voyage of discovery through the universe of Dior's founder and the illustrious couturiers who succeeded him: Yves Saint Laurent, Marc Bohan, Gianfranco Ferré, John Galiano, Raf Simons and, most recently, Maria Grazia Chiuri. The selection of over 300 haute couture gowns has a unifying thread of emotions, life stories, affinities, inspirations, creations and legacies.

Until 7 Jan | 107 rue de Rivoli, 75001 | www.lesartsdecoratifs.fr

Yves Saint Laurent Museum

Following the launch of the YSL Museum in Marrakech, Oct 3 sees the launch of the Musée Yves Saint Laurent Paris, set in the mythic hôtel particulier where he spent nearly 30 years designing clothes. The space spotlights the couturier's creative genius and process via retrospectives and themed exhibitions drawing on the museum's exceptional archive. Sadly, YSL's partner and greatest champion Pierre Bergé passed away just a few weeks before the museum's inauguration.

5 avenue Marceau, 75016 | www.fondation-pb-ysl.net